

EXPERTS AND MEDIA CONTACTS:

The Proposed Betty Irene Moore School of Nursing at UC Davis

The following spokespersons are available to comment on the announcement of a $100 million grant from the Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation to UC Davis to establish a new school of nursing, the Betty Irene Moore School of Nursing. Interviews can be arranged through the media contacts below:

- Lisa Lapin, University Communications, (530) 752-9842, lalapin@ucdavis.edu
- Bonnie Hyatt, UC Davis Health System, (916) 734-9045, bonnie.hyatt@ucdmc.ucdavis.edu
- Greg Nelson, Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation, (415) 561-7427, greg.nelson@moore.org

Nursing education and leadership; trends in health care

- Art Sponseller, president, Northern California Hospital Council:
(916) 554-7608, asponseller@hcnc.org
- Patricia McFarland, executive director, Association of California Nurse Leaders:
(916) 552-7529, pmcfarland@calhealth.org
- Dolores Jones, executive director, California Institute for Nursing & Health Care:
(415) 948-9082, deloras@cinhc.org

Beneficiaries of the Betty Irene Moore Nursing Initiative

- Aara Amidi-Nouri, Betty Irene Moore Doctoral Fellow, future nurse educator:
(510) 530-3177, aarazand@msn.com
- Toby Adelman, Betty Irene Moore Doctoral Fellow, future nurse educator:
(415) 902-3298, toby.adelman@ucsf.edu

Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation, Betty Moore's vision, grant impact and background

- Edward Penhoet, president, Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation
- Helen Kim, chief program officer, Gordon and Betty Moore Foundation

UC Davis' perspective

- Larry Vanderhoef, UC Davis chancellor,
- Claire Pomeroy, UC Davis vice chancellor for Human Health Sciences and dean of the School of Medicine

